

The Poetry Raffle

Write your one line, science inspired masterpiece!

1. Pick one orange and one grey raffle ticket from the hat
2. Find the two objects that correspond with the raffle numbers. The orange tickets will lead you to a science related object and the grey ticket will lead you to a random item.
3. Explore the objects, looking at their fine details and textures. Please do not handle the objects.
4. Using the drawing materials provided, make a quick sketch on the next page of your objects, but link them in an unusual and imaginative way: e.g. if your two objects are a plastic model of a heart and a pearl necklace, you could draw a heart studded with pearls.

Your invention:

5. Think about your wonderful and unique new invention...what might it be used for and by whom? Where might it belong and where might you find it? E.g. the pearl studded heart may belong to a mermaid or a shark that loves the finer thing in life i.e. oysters!

6. Create a little story/narrative in your head and produce a descriptive line of creative writing relating to any aspect of it. Be bold and take risks...it doesn't have to make perfect sense but should aim to be fun, imaginative or just plain old crazy!

Your one-line poem:
